NEW POSTAL REGULATIONS FOR FOREIGN MAILS.

All the religious publishing houses throughout the United States, as well as many of the secular concerns, will be interested in the new postage rates between the United States and foreign countries, which was adopted at the convention held in Rome, Italy, during the month of May, 1906. These rates go into effect October 1, 1907. "At the post office department," says a dispatch from Washington, D. C., "the prediction is made that the new reply coupon will be very popular in foreign correspondence, which is explained in the following:

"This coupon costs 6 cents in America. Upon its presentation at a post-office in any of the countries signing the convention, and this includes practically every country in Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia, and South America, the bearer will be given without charge a postage stamp of that country equivalent to a 5-cent United States postage stamp. By this arrangement a person in the United States can furnish his correspondent in either of the signatory foreign countries with a postage stamp with which to prepay postage on a reply to his letter. It is believed by the department that it will be very helpful to business men seeking to develop business in a foreign country.

"The rate on foreign letters will be reduced to 5 cents for the first ounce and 3 cents for each additional ounce or fraction thereof. Previously the rate has been 5 cents a half ounce or more than twice as much for the letters weighing more than an ounce."

NASHVILLE DELEGATION VISITS JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION.

Quite a number of the delegates from Nashville, Tenn., who attended the sessions of the National Baptist Convention in Washington, D. C., took the opportunity to visit the Jamestown Exposition. Many more wanted to go, but the fact that more than 3,000 tickets had already been sold to delegates from their starting points, reading "Jamestown Exposition, via Washington," as well as many others whose tickets were to be honored on the return trip either from Washington or Norfolk, prevented them from taking in the Exposition.

"On Monday evening, after the Convention adjourned," said one of the delegates to the Convention, "we were informed that more than 1,500 tickets had been validated and scheduled to leave Washington Monday night." The boat "Jane Mosley" was only able to carry about 500, while the other regular boat had a capacity of only 800. Notwithstanding this was true, hundreds of delegates who had not gone down the day before, went to the boats expecting to make the trip, but were forced to abandon the idea because of their inability to get passage. Some waited over and went down on the day line Tuesday, while others left Monday night and Tuesday morning for their homes by rail. Those who did attend the Exposition were well paid for their trip. Much credit is due the Negro for the creditable exhibit and the way they are arranged. It makes an excellent display. Thousands of people are visiting this, and the reservation around the Negro building affords an excellent opportunity to see the race pride and loyalty displayed. The Nashville delegation reached the city Friday morning over the Southern Railway.

EUREKA DANCING SCHOOL.

The Eureka Dancing Class, which has been a source of much amusement and benefit at Boyd's Hall, had their opening at the Odd Fellows auditorium Monday night. There was a large crowd present who greatly enjoyed the dances which were put on.

Mr. Lner, who has been the dancing master for the class since its organization, deserves credit for his originality and ability. This class is not one of the so-called dancing classes, where there is not even a symptom of order and ladies are liable to insult at any moment, but here is the best of order and everybody is gentlemanly in his behavior. Were it not for the music which comes from the hall, any one outside would not know that the room was occupied.

In the future the class will meet every Monday and Friday night in the Odd Fellows Auditorium. The public is extended a most cordial invitation to be present. Any person who wishes to inspect the class will be admitted free.

A CALL TO MITE MISSIONARY WORK.

All members and friends of the Mite Missionary Society of St. Paul A. M. E. Church are called to meet at St. Paul Monday, September 30, at 3:30 o'clock sharp. The Annual Conference convenes Oct. 31, and in order to be ready with our report and to hold our place at the head of the list, we must be up and doing.

Since our reorganization in 1897, at Columbia, St. Paul's Mite Missionary Society has stood No. 1. Shall we hold it? We began directly after the convention at Lewisburg to pass our baskets and to gather up the pennies. We have placed envelopes in the hands of many for free-will offerings. We plan some kind of an entertainment in the early future at which time these envelopes will be brought in. Due notice of this will be given in the Globe.

We have the co-operation of our pastor, Rev. C. H. Boone, D. D., and we all feel like working that our beloved St. Paul may carry off the Mite Missionary Banner at the Annual Conference.

At this meeting, Monday, September 30, all the missionaries who can do so are asked to be with us. Rev. T. L. D. Ledbetter has promised to speak for us. Light refreshments will be served. Bethel's Mite Missionary Society had a sermon and service last Thursday night. Over five dollars was raised by that society. The pastor, Dr. Denny, and President, Mrs. Anna Webster, say this is just the beginning. Bethel's Mite Missionary report will break all former records.

This is the close of the quadrennium. Can't we have two hundred dollars Mite Missionary Money? There are four districts, and $50 per district will do it. Let us do this.

St. Paul Mite Missionary Society,
Mrs. G. L. Jackson, President.
Mrs. M. L. Peyton, Secretary.
Mrs. Harriet Campbell, Treas.

A DELIGHTFUL PARTY.

The beautiful home of Mrs. Merriweather was the scene of a delightful party Friday evening entertained by a number of young ladies of North Nashville. Games and dancing were indulged in until a late hour. The guests were ushered into the dining room where a three-course menu was served. Those who enjoyed the ladies' hospitality were Mesdames Merriweather, Daniel Stafford, Misses Annie Burrus, Jessie Montgomery, Rosa Frierson, Johnnie Mai Powell, Mamie Allison, Sadie Harding, Geneva Mabry, of Omaha, Neb.; Ethel Frierson, Alice Powell, Annie Dunlap, of Beckwith, Lou Ella Mayberry, Lucile Boxley, Emma Irwin, Ruby Burrus, Addie Allison, Hettie Fowler, Josephine Andrews, Cassie Dodson, Samuella Armstrong, Messrs. Ed. Demunbreun, Clarence Laprade, Jas. Johnson, J. Clemmens, Dennelson Merrill, Edgar Butler, Walter Hollins, S. Tenor, Henry Lovell, D. Boxley, Percy Nelson, Douglas Harding, Walter Morris, Scovel Richardson.

PROMINENT MEMBER OF THE KANSAS CITY BAR MARRIES.

The news has been received in this city that Mr. Chas. H. Calloway was married to a young lady of Kansas City, Mo., on the tenth of September. Mr. Calloway is an old Nashville boy who, after graduating from the Pearl High School and the College Department of Fisk University, took a course in law at the University of Minnesota. Since his graduation from the latter university he has been practicing his profession in Kansas City, where he has made quite a reputation as a member of the bar of that city and has added to his fame as an orator. Mr. and Mrs. Calloway will continue to reside in Kansas City, but it is thought that they will pay a visit to his old home in the near future.

SPORTING NEWS.

By LEON.
FOOTBALL.

The season of "The pig skin" is on, and every one is looking forward to a hard and scrappy season as several visiting teams are booked for this city. It is rumored that the National Athletic Association will put one of the strongest squads in the field the city has ever had. This organization is noted for its push and tact, therefore should they get a team together it will be hard to beat. Here is hoping they may succeed.

IN THE ROPES.

Joseph Gans is rapidly nearing the last jump on the course. He cleared the Britt hurdle with the bit in his teeth, but now comes a tough obstruction labeled Memsic.

This fellow Memsic is a good specimen of the only type of fighter that will ever have a chance to defeat Joe Gans while the latter retains his strength. A clever man will never stand a ghost of a chance with the old master. Gans is a marvel at the game of feints and counters. He steps in and out, his long left arm at full stretch, prodding about with his left hand until satisfied with the opening presented, and then like a flash the right shoots through to the mark. Never a wasted movement, never an uncertain step. Joe fights his fight very much as an expert chess player—every move means something; everything is done for a purpose. The man who stands up to box with Gans is lost. The only man who has a chance with him is the hard-headed individual who comes in on the run, banging away with both hands. And then the odds are about 1,000 to 1 against his landing an effective punch.

Memsic saw the Britt fight, taking great comfort from the fact that Gans did not floor Britt during the five rounds. A man with a glass eye might have seen that Gans never put his strength into a single blow delivered during the fight. He beat Britt with short right jolts, and never once did he whip over the old sleep-producer as he did at Goldfield. If Memsic thinks that Gans can hit no harder than he did against Britt, he should think again.

Up to date there has been little or no betting on the fight. The Memsic people want race track odds for their money—three to one will suit them very well. This is a very lopsided price, but on form and past performances it should be one to ten.

Memsic makes no secret of his plan of campaign. He says that the way Gans smothered Britt at the boxing game has convinced him that his only chance lies in a toe to toe encounter, and he means to meet Joe coming out of his corner and stay with him until something happens. Memsic carries a heavy punch in either hand, the right being the most dangerous. He needs time in which to set himself for this punch, but if he hits the mark with it, he can whip any lightweight in the world. He once floored Tommy Burns with that punch to the jaw and it was this pile-driver wallop which caused the heavyweight to add Memsic to his stable. If Memsic wades in to make a slugging bee, the fight will not last long, for the Bohemian fights at a terrific clip, rushing his man and swinging as he comes in.

This report does not worry Gans. "I know if he gets close enough to me to land his right hand he'll feel me about that time," says Gans. "I can hit some myself."

DR. JOSIE WELLS BACK FROM THE EAST.

Dr. Josie Wells has returned to the city after an absence of about a month, during which time she visited many of the leading cities in the East, including Boston, New York and Philadelphia. She also went to the National Capital. It is said by some of her close friends that her trip was not solely one of pleasure, but was mingled with business connected with the profession. It is believed that she has been looking around some of the leading hospitals and infirmaries in these cities. On her return trip she stopped over at the Jamestown Exposition, and also visited Norfolk. While in the last named place she was the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Byrd, who entertained her at their home.

PLEASANT VACATION.

Miss Belma Mahan returned to the city last Friday after spending nearly two weeks in and around Washington. Miss Mahan left Nashville going by the Southern Railway and traveling along the banks of the French Broad River through the "Land of the Sky," thence to Washington, D. C. She spent Friday in Alexandria, Va., and visited Christ Church, where George Washington had worshipped in his days. From here she went on a boat down the Potomac River to Norfolk and visited the Jamestown Exposition.
